Announcements from Temple

Meet Our New ECE Director, Susie Weiner

Director of Early Childhood Education

Temple Beth El is thrilled to announce the hiring of Susie Weiner as our new Director of Early Childhood Education. She will direct our Early Childhood Center and guide the Temple's programming for young families.

Susie grew up in Cincinnati, Ohio. She has a Bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan and a Master's degree in early childhood education from Bank Street College of Education in New York. After working with many different age groups in public schools, religious schools, and Jewish Day schools, Susie has decided that her heart is with preschoolers and their families. Susie lives in Bloomfield Hills with her husband and three children, as well as Lila, their dreadlocked dog.

Susie is excited to join the TBE family and officially starts on June 12th. Keep an eye on your inbox for an opportunity to meet our new Director soon. If you have questions about the transition in the Early Childhood Center, please contact Debbie Morosohk, our Director of Education, at dmorosohk@tbeonline.org or 248.325.9708.

ESPECIALLY FOR YOU...

A Beth El Remembrance

For many of us, our memories of Shabbat services at Temple Beth El include a familiar blue book, Gates of Prayer. For multi-generational families, you may remember the little black New Union Prayerbook and High Holy Day books. The books have been replaced by our current Shabbat text, MishkanTfilah, but opening the retired books, seeing the prayers we recited, brings to mind images of Shabbat shared with family and friends. Although the books are no longer in use, many copies remain. We would like to share those copies with you. Stop by the Temple office to receive complimentary siddurim. As you leaf through the familiar pages, we hope you will joyously recall Shabbats and celebrations marked with your Temple family.

Prayer books will be available for pick up July 6-17 and there is no limit on how many you may take. Supplies are limited and will be given on a first-come first-served basis. Temple will not be able to reserve books; they must be picked up July 6-17.

A big mazel tov to Nicole Jahr who recently completed her Masters of Jewish Education from Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, and has accepted a new position as the Director of Lifelong Learning at Temple Beth El in Madison, Wisconsin. We're sad to see the Jahr family go, but excited for the opportunities that await them in Madison. Please join us at services on Friday, June 12th to offer Nicole and her family a blessing from the congregation.

Congratulations to Harriet B. Rotter and Nancy K. Stone on their new partnership, Rotter & Stone, PC, specializing in matrimonial law. The two attorneys have much in common: Harriet B. Rotter is Nancy Stone's aunt. Both are graduates of the University of Detroit-Mercy Law School, 20 years apart. The partnership is a family affair that arose out of Stone's desire to change her career path and Rotter's wish to leave a legacy in the field of law, which has been such an important part of her life. We wish them the best of luck on their new venture!

73rd Rabbi B. Benedict & Ada S. Glazer Institute on Judaism

A Day of Learning and Inspiration:

A Spectacular afternoon, Great leaders, a Huge Success!

We had an incredible Glazer Institute at Temple Beth El on Monday, April 27th. More than 120 people joined together to explore the impact of Vatican II and Nostra Aetate on interfaith relations for the past 50 years and to share our hopes and concerns for building a stronger city together. We also welcomed a diverse and illustrious group of faith leaders to offer prayers from our bima - each of them added sanctity to our event. We appreciate our community partners: Archdiocese of Detroit, The Jewish Federation of Metropolitan Detroit, Anti-Defamation League (ADL), American Jewish Committee (AJC), Jewish Community Relations Council (JCRC), Inter-Faith Leadership Council (IFLC), and the Michigan Roundtable. Special thank yous to our Steering Committee Co-chairs: Hon. Kay Hansen and Rick Rattner, Mark and Mania Glazer and to the entire staff at TBE for their hard work in pulling together a successful 73rd Glazer Institute.

Caring For Your Photographs

by Jan Durecki, Archivist

The Rabbi Leo M. Franklin Archives houses many treasures among its collections and over the years I have assisted countless researchers in their quest to uncover information about their ancestors. Without question, photographs of early family members strike a deep emotional chord that, on more than one occasion, has resulted in tears of happiness. The Archives takes special preservation measures with each document and photograph that are placed in our collections. I do recognize that making a decision to donate the family's precious images to the Archives is difficult. Until that time comes, I encourage you to take the necessary steps in the care, handling and storage of your print photographs. Here are a few general preservation tips on the topic from the Library of Congress:

Remove the photos from your attic or basement and keep them in an area where the temperature and humidity are relatively stable. The Library of Congress recommends 30 to 40% humidity with a cool room temperature. Relative humidity is the single most important factor in preserving most prints. Keep them away from heat vents. Store your images out of the sunlight and in locations without a risk of environmental extremes, ex. water leaks or insects. If you want to display some images, make photocopies and keep the originals out of the light. Store photographs in plastic or paper enclosures that meet the standards for archival preservation. Paper enclosures are suitable for brittle prints that have been mounted on poor quality secondary supports. Plastic sleeves should not be used for glass plate images, nitrate, or acid-based images. After placing images in the appropriate receptacles store them in acid free boxes. Please, do not use photo albums with magnetic or sticky overlays.

Identifying the people and places in your photographs is an important step in providing future generations with the ability to know who-is-who in your family tree. Don't identify someone as "mom" or "dad," write out their complete name. There are varying trains of thought regarding how to best proceed with this identification. The Library of Congress does not advocate writing on the back of photographic images with either paper or pencil. Some archivists use a pencil and write the information lightly at the bottom edge of the photo. Archival supply houses sell pens and pencils designed specifically for this task. An option that I am using for my own family archive is to photocopy a number of images onto one piece of paper and store the photos and notes in folders that are in close proximity to one another. In that way I can make copious notes below each image without compromising the originals.

Photographic preservation is a complex subject; indeed some archivists devote their entire careers to this specialty area. For the lay person, dealing with boxes and bins of photographic material may seem to be an overwhelming task; however, taken a bit at a time it is an important and worthwhile endeavor. The internet offers an abundance of information on the topic and the Archives' staff is always will to answer your questions. We can also provide you with the name of the archival supply houses that we use on a regular basis.

Prentis Memorial Library

Eileen Polk, Librarian

Summer is upon us and the Prentis Memorial Library is chock-full of wonderful books to read during these lazy days.

Here are some new additions:

ADULT FICTION:

Khirbet Khizeh by S. Yizhar

This short novel was written in Israel in 1949 and has only recently been translated into English. In it a young Israeli soldier finds himself battling on two fronts – the villagers he is about to expel from their homes and his own conscience. Published after the end of the 1948 war, it created a huge sensation and has become part of the school curriculum in Israel.

A Duel Inheritance by Joanna Hershon

“Hershon artfully guides us through the lives of Ed and Hugh, college buddies who meet at Harvard in the '60s, shifting between their perspectives through adulthood to detail their lingering impact on one another's lives in such a way that it'll make you take a second look at all of your relationships.”

ADULT NONFICTION:

How About Never – Is Never Good for You? By Bob Mankoff

Mankoff is the cartoon editor of The New Yorker magazine and he has written a charming and well received memoir, liberally illustrated with cartoons by himself and other well known New Yorker artists.

Shireinu: The Complete Jewish Songbook

Before you break out your guitar for your camping trip or week at the lake, check out “the definitive collection of Jewish songs”, and expand your repertoire. This extensive collection contains words, music, and chord changes to hundreds of Jewish songs and melodies – from liturgy to the latest folk song.

YOUNG ADULT FICTION:

Me Being Me is Exactly as Insane as You Being You

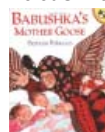

by Todd Hasak-Lowy

Told entirely in lists, this is the story of Darren Jacobs and how he copes with the difficulties of his parents divorce, his brother going off to college, and turning sixteen.

PICTURE BOOKS:

Babushka's Mother Goose by Patricia Polacco

Beloved author Patricia Polacco has produced a volume of old-world inflected nursery rhymes for young children. Polacco also created the beautiful and fanciful illustrations. This book is sure to enchant children and adults.

The Only One Club by Jane Naliboff

Jennifer Jacobs is the only Jewish person in her elementary school class and when the holidays roll around she feels left out. She starts “The Only One Club” with herself as the only member only to find that everyone is the “only one” of something.
